III. Proposal for a Hospitality Services concentration with the Home Economics in Business option for the Home Economics Major - 86-23.

Dr. Joyce Crouse, Chair, Department of Home Economics; and Dr. Ruth Dow, member of the Department of Home Economics spoke to the proposal. Dr. Ewen Bryden, Chair, Department of Recreation and Leisure Studies stated that his department wanted it expressed to the Council on Academic Affairs that there was concern within the Department that this Home Economics concentration might become an intrusion into the area already covered by the Department of Recreation and Leisure Studies. He further stated that there was Departmental concern that the area of travel and leisure studies might be considered the sole domain of Home Economics since their proposed course in "hospitality" is very close to that area. He had hoped that if there were funds available for leisure studies expansion, the Department of Recreation and Leisure Studies would have been privy to them. However, he indicated that the courses being considered by the CAA as presented by the Department of Home Economics did not presently show a conflict. The motion on the proposal for a Hospitality Services concentration in the B.S. in Home Economics in Business option was passed with the following vote:

Yes - Barger, Brunsvold, Durante, Hockman, Keiter, Murrie, Saltmarsh, Stoner.

No - Baumgardner, going on record as voting "no" because; "I feel there are problems in staffing and possible overlaps with Recreation that need to be worked out.
